—It is proposed to introduce the electric light at Glenbrook and work the old mill night and day. This will save building a new mill.

—The death of Emperor William was first known to the citizens of Carson yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, when it was displayed on the APPEAL bulletin board.

—It is proposed to introduce drawing in the public schools of this city. Prof. Gunn is urging the White system which has always given good satisfaction where it has been tried.

—Petersen has some of the finest seed oats ever brought to the town. Now is the time to plant oats, and now is the time to purchase of Petersen, as they are sure to be clean and free from weeds.

—A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

—Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 47 years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Hops.

Mr. Joseph Olcovich, of San Francisco, has sent the APPEAL 200 hop plants with instructions to distribute 100 of the plants to anyone in Eagle Valley who desires them. He states in his letter that Nevada has the best climate in the world for raising hops, and that Nevada-raised hops command just double the price of California hops in the San Francisco market. He estimates that $200 an acre can be cleared on hops in this State if properly handled, and when once they take root they need no further irrigation.

People desiring the cuttings will please notify this office immediately.

For sale by George C. Thaxter, agent Carson.

Dr. Davison's Card.

In another column Dr. Davison replies to a vile slander on the reputation of his daughter. His daughter needs no defense in this city, where she has lived, and it is to be hoped that as a matter of justice to her the San Francisco papers which first gave current to the defamation of her name will set the matter right at once.

The Electric Light.

The citizens of Carson were given their first taste of electric light last evening, when the city was lit up with a blaze of glory. Everybody was out on the streets to see the light, and it was rated a high success.

WHAT NEVADA NEEDS.

Some Sensible Suggestions in the Walker Lake Bulletin.

A correspondent of the Walker Lake Bulletin makes the following observations:

Nevada, not unlike her neighboring States and Territories, is continually seeing little towns spring up in the valleys and among the mountains, only to see them deserted and abandoned within a few years. To one unacquainted with such sights naturally comes the question:

"What is the cause of all this?"

Am I wrong when I say that it is because the people of the State have gone to much to mining? In 1858 when the famous Comstock lode was discovered the civilized portion of the population was not more than 1,000. As soon, however, as the vast resources of this famous lode were known to the people of the outside States the population began to swell very rapidly by a class of people who came undoubtedly with the same motives that brought the early inhabitants to America, namely: to get immensely rich in a short time, without labor. Naturally, they would settle where they thought their chances were best to obtain this wealth. What was the result? First settle here, to-morrow a new discovery, made in another region, they as quickly moved and left their houses unoccupied. Was it not this shiftless and feverish element that caused all these desertions? I do not mean to say that all her people of to-day are such—but I fear that to too great an extent it is still true—because we now see towns of a more substantial nature building up outside of the mining camps.

This brings me to a second question. What is Nevada's Great Need? Let me answer that it is more agriculturists. It is conceded by all that the soil in the valleys is fertile enough to produce anything that can exist in this climate when properly watered and cultivated, and the difficulty in obtaining water seems to be the only obstacle which prevents the turning of the now barren valleys into green fields of grain and grasses. How then are we to overcome this obstacle? We know that the mountains rise from 1,000 to 8,000 feet above the included valleys and near the summits of many of them burst forth never failing springs, producing large streams of untutilized water, and should these springs prove insufficient when developed and distributed over the valleys in systematic order, there seems to be no good reason why abundance of water cannot be had by boring to no very great depth. In fact, the height of the mountains and the trend of the strata of rocks almost tell us that by boring, water is a certainty. When the people take more to agriculture I firmly believe that Nevada will witness a growth yet unknown in her history, and that no longer will little deserted towns stand in her valleys. It will prove both beneficial to her wealth and her society. And then, when the question is asked. What makes Nevada so desirable? we can change our answer from her "Superior Climate"—for most any unlearned philosopher knows that the human race cannot subsist on climate alone—to "her superior agricultural wealth and advantages."

The Overland Monthly.

The leading feature of the present year will be illustrated descriptive articles.

Without the Overland Monthly it is impossible to keep informed upon the resources and growth of the Pacific Coast. The magazine is essential to the homeseeker and investor.

To lovers of literature, the Overland offers each month the best product of a group of new brilliant writers. Its stories of Western adventures, Indian studies, the Pioneer sketches, cover the entire range of Western life, from mining-camp days to the living present. Its literary reviews, editorials and poems rank with the best of Eastern work.

If you wish to aid the growth of the Pacific Coast, subscribe for the Overland Monthly, $4.00 per year. One sample copy, twenty-five cents.

A CARD.

On the 29th ult. there appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle a notice headed "Married on Probation," which was a vile and malicious slander upon the fair name and reputation of my daughter. Daily expecting that a retraction of the article would be demanded by Mr. Dunlap and be published in the papers that gave the falsehood publicity, I have until the present refrained from noticing it. The true facts are as follows:

About two years ago in San Francisco, where my wife and family were then residing, Mr. Dunlap and my daughter became engaged with the understanding that the marriage should not take place for a period of two years. Thereafter myself and family, including my daughter, removed from that city to Bodie, Cal., and remained there for about one year and a half, and then came to Carson City, Nevada. My daughter has always resided with her parents until the 29th of last month, when she left for San Francisco, accompanied by her brother, and was married to Mr. Dunlap the day of her arrival. The inferences to be drawn from the notice as published in the San Francisco papers were absolutely false and untrue, and unjustly reflected upon the good name of my daughter, and has caused much grief, uneasiness and sorrow to myself and family. Justice demands that the foul slander should be emphatically and publicly denied.

The Opera Company.

The Campobello Opera Company will give an operatic concert at the Carson Theater on Tuesday evening. The organization is unknown here, but if a congratulatory shower of press notices all along its line of march is any criterion to go by, it is by all odds the best troupe of singers that has ever visited Nevada.

We do not notice any broken down tenors who were shelved in Italy twenty years ago, or any antiquated sopranos who ran their course in the old country before they set foot in America. The leading voices of the Company have pleased the most critical audiences, and the violinist is highly recommended from all sides.

Being More Pleasant

To the taste, more acceptable to the stomach, and more truly beneficial in its action, the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is rapidly superceding all others. Try it. One bottle will prove its merits. For sale by Geo. C. Thaxter, agent.

—The fund appropriated by the last Legislature to meet the expenses of the Surveyor General's office in preparing maps for the various County Assessors is exhausted, and Surveyor-General Jones has requested the Board of Examiners to allow the salary of a draftsman from this time on until the next Legislature meets, when a relief bill to meet the unlooked-for expense will be presented. The matter was taken under advisement.
